

DISCOVER THE POWER OF SOAPSTONE FOR YOURSELF

With a soapstone stove, you can enjoy delightful, healthy heat

Soapstone stores heat and releases it evenly. This heat is comparable to the infra-red heat of the sun. Infrared heat is the most natural heat there is, and heats up the objects in a space. The heat feels like a blanket wrapped around you, and heats up your entire body and surroundings. Experience it yourself!

FEEL WARMTH. TASTE ATMOSPHERE. ENJOY QUALITY.

YEARS OF EXPERIENCE WITH SOAPSTONE

Thanks to our extensive experience and the capacity to develop our own stoves, we were able to apply various new techniques. As a result, the Altech wood-burning stoves and pellet stoves don't just offer a wonderful display of flames, but they also achieve highly efficient combustion.

The heat generated during this combustion is optimally utilized by the soapstone. This creates a particularly high efficiency that makes an optimal contribution to heating your home.

Almost half a century ago, Altech imported the first freestanding soapstone stoves from America. The unique properties of these soapstone stoves inspired us. That's why we decided to design and produce our own soapstone stoves, in the middle of the country. And we were successful, too, as we have been making rock-solid soapstone stoves in Hoevelaken for over 4 decades by now.

QUALITY STOVES, MADE IN THE NETHERLANDS

We build every soapstone stove by hand in Hoevelaken, stone by stone. Craftsmanship is our priority. Only the best is good enough for us, which is why we only use pure soapstone of the highest quality. Because these stoves are handmade, you can benefit from Dutch craftsmanship of the utmost quality!

DELIGHTFUL HEAT

An Altech soapstone stove produces pleasant, gentle heat that feels like the heat from the sun. This heat cannot be compared with that of a steel or cast-iron stove. A normal stove primarily produces convection or radiation heat (cast-iron stoves), which is similar to the heat produced by a hairdryer. People often say that these stoves give you a warm front and a cold back. The heat produced by soapstone is a lot gentler, and feels like a warm blanket wrapped around the entire body.

DISCOVER THE UNIQUE FEATURES

Nothing is better than the warmth of an Altech soapstone stove. In addition to wonderful warmth, the wood stoves and pellet stoves from Altech have even more unique features. We would like to list them:

- Healthy and evenly heat
- Natural material
- Suitable for any house
- Stores heat and continues to give off heat for many hours after the fire has gone out
